

TIPS FOR CRUISING BROADWAY

There's a right way and a wrong way to do everything — including "Cruising Broadway". These guidelines are subject to change without notice as the winds of coolness sometimes waft in unexpected directions.

COOL

- ▶ Rap music.
- ▶ Playing your music loud enough so the cars next to you can understand the lyrics.
- ▶ Large "subs" or giant speakers set in the backseat to amplify the bass.
- ▶ Strings of neon lights installed on your car's dashboard or behind the seats — especially the types that flash to the beat of the music.
- ▶ Setting your car on cruise control to the speed limit (30 mph) so you can concentrate more on the other people around you rather than the large number of police officers on Broadway (lots of people complained about how many officers there are during cruising time).
- ▶ The Super America gas station (to hang out at and buy food, drinks).
- ▶ Rolled-down windows.

UNCOOL

- ▶ Playing country music or music from boy bands.
- ▶ Driving your mom's mini-van.
- ▶ Wearing sunglasses with giant-sized lenses.
- ▶ Fuzzy dice.
- ▶ Pickup truck drivers who cruise with people riding in the back bed.
- ▶ Hanging half of your body out of the windows.

THE ROUTE

▶ Most cruise from Recreation Lanes on North Broadway all the way to the Wal-Mart by Old Navy on South Broadway and then turn around and back-track the same path. This route may be repeated, on the average, about four or five times.
